

Job interviews, fender benders, break ups or even just driving in rush hour traffic can take a lot out of a person. That's why when it's time for a snack, you don't want something that's just "ok", you want something to soothe your soul. According to our favorite tour guide Curt Tucker "sometimes when you're in a stressful situation, the best thing to do is to stay calm and reach for a ridiculously delicious snack"

So today we want you to bring your eyes, and ears to catch the sights and sounds of the city, but we also want you to bring an empty stomach to taste drool worthy junk food that is original, fun and full of flavor.

We have all the bases covered on this well-paced historical & cultural eating adventure.

Our samples include gourmet pancake, fries, a classic burger that has been the taste of NYC for decades, fancy fried chicken, delicious gourmet sausage, unique donut holes and a tasty taco on a warm homemade tortilla.
